I was wondering if the moderator could e-mail me about my User Name / Password. I seemed to have forgotten the password to my UserName Coda1108 and haven't been able to post with my name without the password.I also don't seem to see where I can reset the password.Thanks.

Your password has been reset. You'll need to re-register to set the password.

Gee, Randle, when you first discovered AudioRoundTable, you did peruse the items on the far right column of the splash page, didn't you? Well of course you didn't! If you had, you would have known about the Tower and the Dungeon and why and why your irrelevant posts in General were met with such hostility. You would have also seen the forum rules and the reasons for registration. When all else fails, read the instructions. This is your opportunity. Bob
