Damn, Larry Moore lives in Loveland, OH. That's about 15 minutes from me. Wonder if he'd be interested in coming to the wronsideofthetracks gathering? Nice review. You and Bill get some really nice gear to audition.

Excellent review, Akhilesh! I know Larry Moore and respect his work, but have not heard his new I'O amplifier. I'm quite interested to do so, so when you get back next month, I'd love to come hear it. Thanks for the link to your write-up. Godspeed on your travels!

Thanks Wayne! Looking forward to having you listen top the setup. Having fun here in India for a while. The monsoons make it all look pretty. Understand we are having similar weather up in NE OK!-akhilesh

Yes, Oklahoma and Texas are getting a lot of rain. I think it has rained every day for the past 30 days. Most times, it is just misty but a few times we've had some street flooding. You know Tulsa has a lot of good storm drainage, but rural areas don't and are having some serious flooding problems. Some places in Texas are too.
