How come I never hear Carvin mentioned in ART? I know they make great audio equipment - been using it for years - but I have no experience with their loudspeakers. In particular they make a dual 18 inch sub that looks a lot like certain other mfrs models. Specs read well and I know their electronic gear meets spec.

You're more likely to get an answer if you post in one of the Prosound forums on ART. Bill W. and others that hang out there are more likely to have experience with Carvin gear than those that hang out in the hifi sections of ART.
