With the internet and television, do you think it's about time that radio should be put to rest? What do you think?

I think it's handy to have radio broadcasted audio and video. Cable, phone and internet are merging, and SIP stuff is definitely beginning to be all the rage. But to be honest, even though I work with SIP (VoIP), I think it has its technical problems. It's kind of weird how we choose our technical standards. Anyway, I like having each of these technologies.By the way, check out ART Radio.

No way! I listen to the radio all the time. I'm addicted to talk radio so I choose that over tv everyday. Sadly though, I listen to it via my pc. LOL
