Warning - hideous pics and slow website. Here ya go, the crazy audio obssession caused me to go "whacko" 15 years ago. I just finished scanning pics and I uploaded them. Trust me, if I was to do this again, I would do it differently - LOL Audio experimentation, the time capsule is open. http://home.pacbell.net/lordpk/

Wow! You were serious about that stuff, weren't you? That's insanely intense!My favorite front-end in the early eighties was Concorde. I built some very nice sound systems in my cars using Concorde cassette/receivers and Alpine amps. I always ran JBL Professional Series components, as many of you might expect. One of my favorites was the 2115 - an 8" unit that was good down to 20Hz.But I'm pretty sure my stuff wasn't as loud as that wild "Hell Van" of yours. Wow!

Sounded like a rock concert, loud and clean. It was an incompletesystem, only had two horns, four 15's, three 18's.. 100% activecrossovers.. Had to dismantle the beast, the old lady hated it - lol
