after reading this:http://www.audioasylum.com/forums/bottlehead/messages/50170.htmlBut I gotta say the Theater 4s did kick some major butt. Garland's Studio 2s sounded great too, they've almost got that single-driver thing going. All guided by about a ton of very fancy iron.Wayne strikes another blow at the wussy-speaker market!I'll order a pair of those 2s this morning, Wayne, black decals, please. And many thanks for your help and advice getting the (quasi-)Theater 4s up and running.John

Daily driver, I commute about an hour each way on it. Those plug plates I forgot yesterday are in the saddlebags right now, and I'll probably see you today if I can get away, tomorrow if I can't.You know, there were still beers in the cooler, I think because I didn't bring any Bjork or the Crown amp. With only 3 watts I don't think we disrupted any traffic or even pissed off the neighbors much.John

It's nice to have that kind of response. Do you or any of the other participants have some more photos? I'd love to see more pics of your speakers, and of the others at the meeting as well!
