Well I stil haven't finished my Two Pi kits yet... hopefully before xmas...But I've been snooping around the fostex site for some DIY ideas...how do you think these would work teamed up with the Alpha 10?what kind of crossover would be needed (if any).http://www.madisound.com/ft17h.pdfJust curious,David Looks like it would work pretty well to me. What does it cost?

Yes, you'll definetely need a crossover using this one! The least you can get away with is a capacitor in series with the tweeter (I haven't considered the value of the capacitor though) - but seriously, I think this one will be better of with a steeper sloped filter type, 18dB/oct or so.
