Hi Gang!! I have two pairs of the JBL 2226J woofers in brand new, never ever used condition. I had put these on the back burner because I didn't think that they were going to work well with the little Paramour's I was planning. However, in the last several weeks we've seen many posts about the 2226J being the woofer to own if planning a Profesional Series "Thermionic" Four or Seven. I still can't decide if I want to build my own Thermio Pro's or go another route. So I'm going to post these here(Thanks Wayne!) These are just too nice to sit in storage. If I can trade off one pair for some parts or parts money I'll keep the other pair and the Thermio Pro's will come to life. If fellow diy'ers want both pairs....well then, back to the Pi chart! Okay, I have about $210 in each woofer, I would let them go for what I have in them or would be interested in trades for the following items:Altec 811B horns, matching pair-good condition or betterAltec 806A compression drivers, matching pair-good condition or betterEminence PSD 2002 comp. driver, matching pair-new conditionEminence 1.6K crossovers, pair-new conditionEdgar 650 hz. tractix horn, pair-good or better conditionJBL 2426H compression driver, pair- good or better conditionJBL 2370A horn, pair-good or better conditionJust a few items I'm interested in. Would consider other items as well, mostly horns and compression drivers, but would also consider woofers. I've got more woofers than I need, perhaps someone else has more horns and comp. drivers than they need. If we can get together we can make some music! If interested, post some info or email. Thanks Wayne and the other diy'ers! Jerrod
