Nice!! I'm glad he got a pic of the custom Mikro Seiki TT in the Maxxhorn room, I somehow missed that...DOH! If anyone could get a closeup today of it, I would be most appreciative. Peace, Lee

Hi Bill, thank you!!I've been enjoying your articles in Dagogo.If you come to RMAF, stop by my room, I'd love to meet you face to face. It's always nice to put a face with a name of someone with whom you trade e-mails.Duke's speakers are really special--you need to hear them. And, he and Lori, are two of the nicest people a person would be blessed to meet.Peace, Lee

Lee,I took some close ups from above of the TT this morning. Wayne hasn't loaded them into the directory yet. Also there should be some pics of most of the displayer's with their wares as well.There are lots of doubles and what not in the directory as I was playing with my new camera and had never taken indoor shots (and didn't have a proper flash). We just downloaded everything into the directory.

Wayne, when you get all the pics downloaded into the file, let me go through them and let you know which ones you could remove from the list Some of them are pretty poor and repetative.

Thank you, especially for the two close ups of the MS TT. The craftsmanship of the plinth is pretty remarkable. Your pictures look great!Lee

Wayne, I cropped, sharpened, and fixed all the pics I thought were good. I'm uploading them to my flickr acct right now (about 200mB worth, 36 files). Can I suggest if you just download the file I put them in (just click and walk away for 1/2 hour) and place those in the directory to use I would sure appreciate it. Trust me that the "fixed" ones look much better, to me anyway. I will make another LSAF pic post when I'm done and you can get them at that time.
