I was looking over the plans for the 2 Pi bass reflex speakers and I did not see any mention of bracing. The plans mention for larger cabinets to brace every 18", so I'm wondering if that means I do not need to brace the little ones? Any help you guys can give me would be great, thanks.

You're correct that I recommend bracing every 18", and that this means it isn't required in the smallest cabinets. There have been a lot of discussions about this here, so use the forum search feature to look for "bracing."
