Wife got major operation last Friday, cut her from here to yonder, checked all organs, removed ovary and a mass from her liver.....biopsy returned today, mass is not cancer, life can go on. We just have to have her tested periodically. Long recovery, though; big, painful surgery.....Where should I shop online for a Sony SACD?

Great news for you and her! I know that surgery can take some time to recover. Do her right and she won't forget it.

Wow. That's certainly no fun, but the biopsy news is great!How you organize a show while this is going on is beyond me. My hat's off to you, Mike. Keep your ears and your mind open.

Mike, That is great news! Godspeed on the recovery. By the way, love the debate with Mike Bates on the other forum, I am glad to be going to the "not for profit charity audio show" as Mr Bates relents to, jealousy will get him nowhere! Stay in touch dude! Ron

You still have some difficult months ahead but how much easier it will be with this news. It's cliche'd, but....."Shall I compare you to a summers day?Thou art more lovely and more temperate.Rough winds do shake the darling buds ofMay,And summer's lease hath all too short a date:Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines,And often is his gold complexion dimm'd;And every fair from fair some time declines,By chance, or nature's changing course,untrimm'd;But thy eternal summer shall not fadeNor lose possession of that fair thou ow'st;Nor shall Death brag thou wand'rest in his shade,When in eternal lines to time thou grow'st.So long as men can breathe or eyes can see,So long lives this, and this gives life to thee. "Words of optimism from the Bard.

for your thoughts. I pick her up tmrw. She is doing well. There is always a considerable chance that the cancer returns, and it would head for the liver if so, but we're going with the odds that it doesn't, since it ain't there yet. She's a tough one.....MBB
