Subject: To seal or not to seal
Posted by CatcCobra on Fri, 04 Apr 2003 16:25:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Do I need to make the the seal around the drivers air tight on a ported center channel speaker? If so what is a good way to seal them to the box, without using the nasty black putty.

Subject: Re: To seal or not to seal
Posted by Wayne Parham on Fri, 04 Apr 2003 17:12:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I usually feel around the driver for busts of air during large woofer excursions, and I don't apply a sealer if no air leaks are felt. This usually works if the drivers you use have gaskets already and your holes are cut so that there is some surface area between the driver and the baffle.