Due to a sprinkler going off in Rm 504 (the room Wayne was to demo in), he will be demoing in room 601 now. This is above Martinellis suite. The other three suites below incurred primarily drywall damage, which has been replaced, but the rooms are pretty much bare except carpeting. Bummer, but that's the way it bounces sometimes.

I just checked, and, yes, I am in the room next door to the deluge, 502. If you would like to hear the liquid sound of tubes, dive right in.

Looks like we'll still be neighbors - I've still got one room right next to you and another room, one floor up.

505 is around the corner from the suites and not affected. The empty rooms will be used for demos, except 504, which is too rough.MBB

I do however have all the parts (exept for the coils which I hope to have sometime next week. Even the Supawood (MDF) is cut to size.Will keep you psoted on the progress once I start.Cheers for now.
