Glad to have you here. We're pretty laid back here at ART. Mostly, we talk about our projects, asking questions of each other and sharing what we've learned. There is some talk of store-bought equipment, mostly people asking how others like it and stuff like that. But most of us here are DIY types, so we talk about different design aspects and project ideas.

Yeah, I know all about the ART. I register back when it started up.My biggest question is about freedom of speech and censorship for the all of the different parts of the ART including the Tower and the Dungeon. The Annex was famous for a lack of Censorship coupled with a twisted sense of humor and...well, you get the idea. We had some uniquely spirited arguments.Van

Yeah, we don't let people attack each other here. Start that, and posts disappear.
