Hi Folks, (with Wayne's permission) "Some guy" on eBay is selling new Eminence 2002-8S drivers. These are screw on, not the bolt-on type, so they'll work with the Peavey CH-3 horn, but not the H290's, 2370's, or Martinelli or Edgar woodhorns. He's offering them for $80/pr shipped. This is a good deal if you are contemplating using this driver. I've posted his note and email address below. I don't know about the ferrofluid stuff, but he said he can send without it. PE has thread to bolt-on adapters for around $6/ea that might work also. Happy building, Chris> Reply-To: joesnef@earthlink.net> Subject: RE: Question for seller -- Item #2535332580>> Since I have a bunch left over (40+) I would sell them for $80.00/pair.> That price would include UPS ground shipping and treating the drivers with ferrofluid. Let me know if you are interested. That price> certainly beats Parts Express!> Joe Heslip

We still stock Peavey CH-3 horns so if any of you need 'em for the PSD2002S drivers, we've got 'em. We stock both the bolt-on PSD2002 and the thread-on "S" version, but I did tell Chris to go ahead and post this information because it's a good deal if the drivers are new and in good shape. I think some people might be interested.

Hi Wayne, what are you charging for the CH-3's? I didn't see them in your price list. Thx, Chris

There are several inventory items that aren't listed on our website. I have the most popular solutions and parts listed, but many items aren't shown. The Peavey CH-3 is one such item, and we sell them for $50.00 each, plus shipping and handling. We don't list them on the website but we do stock them.
