Wayne,i looked at the ebay store, and saw all your parts and kits, except I saw no listings for the JBL drivers. Do you sell them, or know who has them for the best price? i have at least decided I should have a pair of these, as they appear to work in versions of the 4pi, 7pi, and 10 pi, of which ALL interest me! thanks, Russellc

We sell and support components made by JBL and Eminence as well as those from a handful of other vendors. You can also purchase parts from Parts Express, Orange County Speaker and others.

cart. However, we don't sell raw drivers, mostly because Eminence won't let distributors post actual prices, only suggested retail. We could do something like other distributors do, click a button for price or add to the shopping cart to expose price. But personally, I don't like those games so I chose not to list raw drivers at all.By all means, do not hesitate to buy drivers from another vendor if you find a good deal. You'll still get the same support here. This is truly about the love of audio, not profit motive. So wherever you get your drivers, we'll help you get the best sound from them here.

Good lord Wayne you are truely generous! I wouldn't dream of getting them elsewhere. Whatever small difference (if any) that could be saved is more than made up for by the professional support which you provide, just for the asking! Thanks for the info & this wonderful site, Russellc
