Anyone thinking it's time for another audio meet in Tulsa?? Now that we're settled and (thanks to Wayne) my speakers are dialed in, ready for visitors. Let me know! Early March, late Feb?

Sounds great! I'd love to get together in a few weeks. I'm still getting things unpacked and setup in my new house. With 'lil Eddie running around, it takes even longer than normal. I have so much that has to be organized and setup, even without a 2yo there, it would be several months. The rate we're going seems like it will take a year! So maybe I can host an audio meet in the summer.

Hi Steve, This sounds good to me. I just mentioned to Shane yesterday that I need an audio fix since the local group does not meet very often. And it has been several months since our last gathering. Just set a date and time and I will try to be there. Norris

This sounds interesting, I would like to meet some local folks. Any time is good for me too.
Thanks Steven A.

Sorry! Life happened, I guess. I really expected I was done with my weekly trips to Wichita Falls, but that's now dragging into mid April, among other challenges. I was about to suggest rescheduling but now we've got the LSAF coming up. Maybe we could shoot for July and spouses could come and hang out at the pool while the serious listening happens inside?

Hi Steve, Yea, I can understand the life coming at you situation. I was hoping that you could get away from Wichita Falls last year, I know it has to be a burden driving so far several times a week, and stressful. Well, Summer will be upon us soon, and that is as good a time for a group meeting as any. There is plenty of time to make plans ahead. So, focusing our attention on LSAF will fill the audio void until the group gets together in July. I hope I will be able to attend LSAF, it should be fun and educational as always. I truly hope that our efforts to promote LSAF 2009 and recruit new exhibitors will pay off in a better than ever show this year. At least I have a lot of hope, if nothing else. Take care Norris
