I am not much of a cabinet builder. I found a fellow(cabinet maker) that say's he will build me a pair of Two Pi Tower Cabs for $120.00 each, including the cost of the 3/4 in maple plywood. This seems like a good price to me... I think I will jump on this one....240 bucks!!

If I built the boxes myself it would cost me at least 80 bucks for the plywood. So he is going to build me two cabs for $160 bucks. I will cut the holes and mount drivers, brace, insulate and hook up harness myself. This way I can still claim that I built them myself!! lol It still should be pretty easy. Yeee- haaaWayne let me confirm again these cab prices, this and I will be ordering the parts soon.

We've got the kits in stock, so just let me know when you want 'em. The new "shopping cart" has proven to be very easy to use too. The prices went up on the first of the month, but just pennies really. We're still less expensive than buying parts elsewhere, and you don't have to solder anything 'cause the wiring harness electronics are already assembled.Wayne
