
Subject: What's the best movies you've seen?

Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 01 Mar 2004 23:09:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Subject: Matrix

Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 01 Mar 2004 23:10:52 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Star Wars too. I know they're both old hat by now, but you gotta admit, they grabbed you when they first came out.

Subject: Re: "The Straight Story", "Lock, Stock and Two Smoking Barrels"

Posted by Bill Epstein on Mon, 01 Mar 2004 23:33:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Richard Farnsworth, Sissy Spacek (she got a nomination for it) and DAvid Lynch, of all people, directing. A wonderful, quirky story of an old man and his tractor. One of my top ten of all time. And no Lynch 'Dwarf' Deus Ex Machina here. Lock, Stock is a great story line with a terrific ensemble of actors and best of all, kind of a sequel to "Snatch".

Subject: Re: What's the best movies you've seen?

Posted by Land Shark on Thu, 04 Mar 2004 19:41:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Some of my favorites are: Network - a timeless classic, every scene, every line has weight and meaning. Incredible acting. Played my DVD of it recently and was amazed how it still holds up. Dr. Strangelove - another movie that just gets better with age. The Godfather Parts 1 & 2 - 'nuff said! Porky's - juvenile, immature, childish and just plain fun! Animal House - see Porky's. High Plains Drifter - My favorite western. The Lord Of The Rings Trilogy - epic filmmaking, I never thought they would make as good as they turned out. Forbidden Planet - 1950s sci-fi that still holds up. Check out a young Leslie Nielsen. Best regards, Ralph

Subject: Re: What's the best movies you've seen?
Posted by wunhuanglo on Fri, 05 Mar 2004 00:35:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The first "Alien" - because of the way it brought reality into science fiction "Apocalypse Now" -

Natural" - truly epic themes of betrayal and redemption "Citizen Kane" - because of the way it foreshadowed movie making for the next 50 years

Subject: Oooops! Forgot one.
Posted by wunhuanglo on Fri, 05 Mar 2004 00:37:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

"Unforgiven" - did for westerns what "Alien" did for sci-fi
