Finally broke down and went to Kinkos so I could post. I will have a new ISP soon enough. I have some cool pix to post but I have no space to link them from anymore. Maybe after the holidays. Not meaning to be a stranger, just busy recovering from layoff and starting a business with almost no money. Oh yeah, with some time to live with the three Pi's I must say they are great. My Brother still says he can't believe they do "that" with a 12" woofer. Cool!Hope to be back in the lurk in a week or two. see ya'll thenThomas Fowler

Great to see you here, Thomas. Thanks for taking the time to post. And good luck with the new business!By the way, what is the nature of your new business?

Commercial window cleaning (not high rise, yikes!). I got real tired of software companies coming out with new versions that make my graphics expertise obsolete, and corporate guys who have never seen a field branch making front line staffing decisions in states they can't point to on a map, so I took the drivers seat this time. I can't believe that people can't tell the difference between automated photoshop routines and good artist rendered composites and manipulations. They must be blind or cheap! I am perplexed by how much I like to do this window stuff. Maybe I am just impressed by seeing things like the sun and other humans. Sucess remains to be seen, but I have some pretty good things happening right now.Later (but not too much later)Thomas
