Subject: Those darned physics again!
Posted by Mike.e on Fri, 26 Dec 2003 18:13:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello all as you may well know,ive been modeling basshorns,and have built one. 40hz with 8"

Subject: Re: Those darned physics again!
Posted by Wayne Parham on Fri, 26 Dec 2003 18:57:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It's hard to push 'em down low, isn't it Mike?But your goals and your observations are very realistic, so I expect you'll squeeze as much as is physically possible out of this.Have you seen basshorn installations that use basement area in order to get the size? What sort of relationship do you have with your landlord? :-)

Subject: Re: Those darned physics again!
Posted by Adrian Mack on Sat, 27 Dec 2003 01:49:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

How about this? http://www.royaldevice.com/custom3.htm it brings a whole new meaning to the word "big"

Subject: Basshorn Homes
Posted by Mike.e on Sat, 27 Dec 2003 02:53:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

hehe yes an under floor horn would be good-but i could only do it at dads-and i dont live there-so perhaps i may have to do it at my friends :P with a mouth so large you could fall into it. heheMums house where i live ,is a State house,so no modifications allowed :-(Under the floor the Piles are very close together! like a 90cm grid under entire floor! so that restricts the size and movement.Im sure the 320L one will provide 'adaquate' performance.how was your holiday? Im reading my 'staff brochure' to see what days are public holidays,incase i canget extra pay.Cheers!

Subject: Re: Those darned physics again!

Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 28 Dec 2003 05:01:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That horn's big enough!I've been to this site a few times, and seen a few others like it too. I really love it when the basshorn is built into the structure!

Subject: Re: Basshorn Homes
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 28 Dec 2003 05:03:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The holiday was nice, thanks. Did you celebrate Christmas on December 25th? If so, how was yours?

Subject: Re: Basshorn Homes
Posted by Mike.e on Sun, 28 Dec 2003 05:33:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

i just visited my dad at his house-had a roast and veges.and my aunties house for tea,but i wasnt hungry.:-)2days of work now,il buy the TDA 1554 if i can tomorow from the store,for the car,basshorn in car :-)

Subject: Sweet!
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 28 Dec 2003 06:03:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Man, that's cool!