I think this is a really good movie. If you liked the Matrix, you'll probably like Dark City too.

Fun game to play is to count the number of similarities between this movie and The Matrix. Dark City came out a year before The Matrix though.

One of my favorites of all time. In that year it was Ebert's #1 film. I hardly ever get tired of it...saw it about the same number of times as Blade Runner which is quite a few. Something that gets overlooked quite a bit is the made for tv adaptation of Frank Herbert's Dune. Dune and Children of Dune I have gone back to numerous times as well. It is _my_ "Lord of the Rings." Oh yeah, here's a film that is hard to find but it shows Olaf V. Mortenson before he got to play the king: it's called The Reflecting Skin directed by Philip Ridley. It's unforgettable.
