
Subject: The Saddest Music In The World
Posted by lon on Tue, 11 May 2004 16:51:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

'Been reading about this new Guy Maddin film coming out called The Saddest Music In The World. There's info in the film available elsewhere but what it got me to thinking about is something I had recalled for some time when I had a radio show in the 80's. I can't image how Guy Maddin did not tap The Boulevard of Broken Dreams Orchestra for this film. Just like it sounds, the Dutch ensemble of 16 musicians and a vocalist sing all sad and maudlin songs (in English.) We got the LP as a promo and according to the website below it is available again on cd for your dining and dancing pleasure. ;-)
Boulevard of Broken Dreams Orchestra
