Hi Wayne, Would you please send me a copy of the Eight TT horns. ajbrandon@yahoo.com Thanks!

Thanks Wayne, I was reading through some of the posts and noted where you wrote that the 8TT was not as good as the corner horns but more of a mini VOTT. In what respect are the 8TT not as good as the corner horns or maybe I should ask what are the differences between them besides the loading of the bass driver? Thanks Andrew sound of that little Alpha 10, the bass is full and the overall sound quality is good. But it can't compare to something like a 2226, which is a flux stabilized low-distortion high-output woofer. I'm also working on Magnum versions, which also offer the low-distortion benefits of a shorting ring at lower cost.
