All the reviews of the Heart Stoetkit Junior made me realize that my own website is pretty lean in please. I can think of dozens of examples of reviews made here on the forum that could be copied did it than if I did. So if you have already posted comments here about your speakers at one time section. If you need help finding a review you already made here, or if you can't find the reviews section on the shopping cart or don't know how to make a review there, please write to me and I'll last year. I'll send a pair of pins to any of you that make a review.

How can we turn down an offer like that. See further thoughts in the review section. I have now spent almost 9 months of dedicated listening of the Pi 4's on many types of equipment, even spent time with them in my home theatre rig.
