Hi Wayne, Some time ago, you used to have a 3 version of the Stage Series, combining the OmegaPro-12 with the PSD2002. Same dimension as the Studio-2, so very compact in size. What were those like? Any particular reasons why you took it off the block, or were you just looking to keep the speaker list tidy? Gar.

have to fit the parts in with a shoehorn. In general their small size is handy and that's a good thing, but it does limit your choices for tweeter horns unless you mount them above the midwoofer box. I'd be happy to send you the plans if you're interested.
