
Subject: Finally finished my One Pis

Posted by James W. Johnson on Sun, 27 Feb 2005 17:00:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dang, I had a bunch wrote out and went to preview it and backed up and it was gone. Oh well. Anyways I dont think I can type it like it was again so I will do the best I can. I finally got around to finishing my One Pis , in short I my expecations have been exceeded by quite a bit. Ive build quite a number of speakers over the years and these are the best budget speakers ive ever heard. The Audax HT surround speakers I build many years ago were about $180 a pair for the parts and they did not sound half as good as these. I could easily live with a bunch of these One Pis for my HT speakers. This is one hugely under rated speaker, most of the hype talk over at the HT forums has been about some internet companies like Axiom , AV123 ,..then you have your budget usuals from Paradigm and a plethora of other companies. It takes a number of years and some will to be able to extract yourself from the "popular" choice and make your own decision. So often much of what gets sold is based soley on word of mouth and sadly alot of the word that gets spread is from newbs who cannot hear worth a snot or the owners of the companies themselves. I am by no means an expert but I have been around the block and I have heard 30,000 a pair speakers on down to these One Pis. Some speakers are worth their money and some are not....but a special few are worth more than their cost. These One Pis fit in that category IMO. I had them set up as mains for awhile and now they sit in their home as my surrounds, nothing special about the finish, its just Rustoleum Hammered Finish paint. Once again , thanks to Wayne for the plans and support.

<http://www.massivemaximumtheater.com/>

Subject: Re: Finally finished my One Pis

Posted by RMW on Sun, 27 Feb 2005 19:46:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi James, I agree completely - the one Pi's are a great deal! Question for you - I don't see any silver trim on your tweeters. Would you be willing to share how you blackened them?

Subject: Re: Finally finished my One Pis

Posted by GrantMarshall on Sun, 27 Feb 2005 20:14:39 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's a kick butt looking set up James. A couple of comfortable chairs and a fridge and you could probably live there ;-). Did you find the wall treatment made a big difference? Grant.

Subject: Re: Finally finished my One Pis
Posted by James W. Johnson on Sun, 27 Feb 2005 20:53:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

thanks, I do pretty much live in there. The wall treatments do help quite a bit.

Subject: Re: Finally finished my One Pis
Posted by James W. Johnson on Sun, 27 Feb 2005 20:55:58 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My tweeters came all black, the KSN 1038A has the silver and the KSN 1041A is all black.

Subject: Re: Finally finished my One Pis
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 27 Feb 2005 21:04:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Great looking setup, James! Thanks for taking the time to post the review and the pics.

Subject: James - A Question (or Two)
Posted by elektratic on Tue, 01 Mar 2005 12:42:09 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

James, Great job. Congrats! Your site suggests you're using a Pi 4 for a center channel (as well as for the fronts). I couldn't figure out from the pictures where you've hidden it. Is it there? And, if so, how is it working as a center channel?

Subject: Re: James - A Question (or Two)
Posted by James W. Johnson on Sun, 06 Mar 2005 16:45:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hey, no its not there , I am still working on it. Of course it will make a great center because its going to be voice matched to my mains. I am changing the shape of the box but otherwise it should be nearly identicle sounding.
