Any of you interested in the metaphysical world must go see "What the Bleep Do You Know" playing at the Circle Theater on Lewis and Admiral. It will really make you think. If you want to read more about it go to www.whatthebleep.com I was happy that it was allowed to come into Tulsa, OK.A line from the show - "How far down the rabbit hole to you want to go?" Go see the movie, then...start observing. It's all about the unseen. Quantum physics is the science of possibilities. See you down the rabbit hole!Pam

Observing the unseen, sounds like an oxymoron, like military intelligence... or jumbo shrimp.

Too cute! For example, when you start thinking about someone you haven't seen in a while and they call. Or how something like electromagnetic radiation can cause your cells to mutate causing cancer. That's an observation of something that can be seen.Are you being literal?Pam

Yes, When you start thinking about someone and they call happens because your thinking about them due to not hearing from them for a while; so are they,, so they call. Electromagnetic radiation is a force,, it causes things to happen. Like wind, you can't see it but it blows your hat off. I actually became curious as to what you meant by the .. Metaphysical World. It sounds ominous. J.R.

To me, it's not ominous but beautiful. Einstein stated that if he had longer to live he would look more into the metaphysical world than the physical. Interesting? Go to www.whatthebleep.com

On the left side index scroll down to I create my Day link. Read what the PhD chiropractor/scientist has to say about being a genius or being unconditional love...then to look for the sign that an observer (God) is paying attention.Have a Day!Pam Case

The woman at the root of this movie, JZ Knight, is just hilarious. You can see vid clips of her channeling 11,000 year old Ramtha at the site below.Kind of reminds me of how Doug Henning, a professional magician, lost his mind and thought he could really fly.
