
Subject: Interesting materials

Posted by Paul C. on Sat, 01 Oct 2005 18:11:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My wife was watching one of those home improvement shows and they used this product:<http://www.naply.com/wigglewood.html> Thought it would be good for some horn cabinets. But also on the same site some other nice products:<http://www.naply.com/spectrum.html> Lots of other nice plywoods, veneers, etc. Look around on the site.

Subject: Re: Cool!

Posted by Bill Epstein on Sat, 01 Oct 2005 19:32:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I want some 4" thick Crib-Ply for my next speaker cabinets!

Subject: Re: Interesting materials

Posted by Wayne Parham on Sat, 01 Oct 2005 19:41:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Oh, wow, that does look handy!

Subject: Re: Interesting materials

Posted by Paul C. on Sat, 01 Oct 2005 21:34:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The Wiggle Wood was used, bent to do some project on the home improvement show. She watches these shows to learn how to do the things she can't get me to do. Anyway, my wife called my attention to the wiggle wood and the first thing I thought of was making those curve pieces in an Altec Lansing Voice of the Theatre or other such horns. Even though it is a little thin, if you want thicker you could always bend one layer in shape, spread some glue, and laminate another layer on top. OR you could fill the area behind it with expanding foam to damp vibration. The other stuff that caught my eye on the site was the Spectrum wood. I could just see that used to do some nice wood horns. Plus they have several birch plys. Their "Lite-ply" is used, as their web page says, in many R/C model airplane kits. So the thing is, how do we find stores that have this stuff? Paul C.

Subject: Re: Interesting materials
Posted by Matts on Sat, 01 Oct 2005 21:52:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Great looking stuff- the Finnish birch ply looks world-class. It looks like they only sell wholesale. Maybe if you contact them they could give you names of dealers. That 4' ply would be stiff!!
