I used to enjoy on average a couple of hours a day listening to my system. Have not done any listening at all since Christina arrived a week a go and I don't miss it a bit. Funny how priorities change.

Man, are you in for a treat! I've got two and they can be trying at times, but every moment is worth it. Make sure you kid-proof the speaker cones as they love to poke holes in them, LOL!!

First for us.And no, when baby comes three weeks early, you're never prepared. But after a week, we're settling into a routine.I'm training her to be my tool gopher as soon as I can."Christina, go-for the robertson screwdriver.""Christina, go-for the 1/4" roundover router bit."
