Yeah, The Hitchhiker's Guide must have been very difficult to put to film. But I'm anxious to see it!

Did you ever see the BBC's adaptation of it? I caught a couple of episodes a long time ago. It was pretty funny. I just wish Douglas Adams were around to give a helping hand. Is this going to be a movie series, with each based on the books?.....Colin Yep, I have tapes of the television series. Kinda reminded me of the Dr. Who series.

The tv version was preceded by a version for radio. I have always been a big fan of radio especially in its dramatic form. So many things lost to history.

I have every one of the books on CD. I really love to listen to them every so often on long drives.

read all the books and am a real fan. the movie though tried to incorporate all the ideas... it just wasn't the same. it was still enjoyable though.
