Does the Midhorn kit come with the driver or is this just for the wood?

I believe it is just the "flatpack" consisting of the wood panels and wooden dowels to connect them together. Wayne, chime in here if I am wrong!!! Ron That's right, thanks Ron. The flat pack midhorn kits have the flares, throat piece and instructions. They are cut on a CNC so have precise fit and Miller dowels are provided to make assembly easy without clamps. As an aside, I was at the Prosound Shootout and that's why I couldn't respond on the forum until now. It was really great. Lots of speakers measured, wonderful weather. Watch the Pro Speakers forum for details. Should have results and photos posted by the beginning of the week.
