Hi. Does anyone know anything about an older p.a. system that had 2 small satelite speakers that are mounted on microphone stands with a sub-woofer? I recently aquired this and one of the satelite speakers is blown and I would like to replace it. I don't know whether to take it to my speaker guy and have him try to fix it or just get another pair of replacement speakers. This thing sounds pretty good, but I was getting a buzz or what sounds like a blown voice coil. Any help here would be appreciated. thanks.....

tell them this is a trademarked name that they cannot use. They changed the name to "Prime" and then later went out of business.

guy and see if he can fix this. They do sound good. But, I'm not going to put my Bose PAS in the closet. I wanted to have this system running so I can set up my home system for something to rehearse with. Anyway, thanks again.....Jay
